

Roy Woods is a native of Lexington with three children who have graduated from Fayette County Public Schools. He has served FCPS on two redistricting committees, as the first minority representative on the superintendent search panel, on a Special Education evaluation team, as an adult education instructor, and a magnet committee member. He has also served as chairman of the Equity Council for four years. Woods works for United Way of the Bluegrass.