

Good Afternoon VPE Families,

It appears that we are not catching a break with the weather pattern this week in Lexington with just finishing up our second winter storm only to have another one heading our way. This weather pattern continues to halt us from getting back to in person learning for our K-2 students this week. However, I understand the road conditions are not suitable for buses and many sidewalks remain impassable for our walking students across the district. FCPS has just announced that Wednesday-Friday will be virtual NTI-2DL days. Tomorrow's instructional day will continue with our NTI-2DL where students meet virtually with their homeroom teachers starting at 9:00 am as they will the remainder of the week. Our virtual COSI which was scheduled for tomorrow has been rescheduled for Friday, March 19th as we were unsure if we would have another snow day and did not want to miss this great event.

Families who were planning on meal pick up at one of our FCPS remote locations will not be able to due to building closures district wide. Please reach out to Edireh Brown, our Family Resource Director, if you have immediate needs for your family.

I know I shared this yesterday but want to remind families that you will need to fill out this VPE Family Assurance of Student Health Agreement one per child and must be completed prior to sending your child back to in person instruction. Please use the hyperlink above or reference it on the VPE homepage to complete the Health Assurance Form.

Finally a reminder that we will still be having our parent information nights for our 3-5 grade families tomorrow and Thursday. Please see the following dates/times and Zoom links to join the meetings.
